Questionable transactions at the Indian River Marina led to an audit by the State Auditor's office. State Auditor, Tom Wagner, tells WGMD that former marina manager, Gary King, had already been let go when his office arrived to investigate. The audit questions over $100,000 in transactions at Indian River Marina – from billing procedures to preferential treatment and rate discrepancies. The auditor's findings will be sent to the state Attorney General to determine if further action is warranted.
